14-cm bent metal extension tube

Finish: White

Description

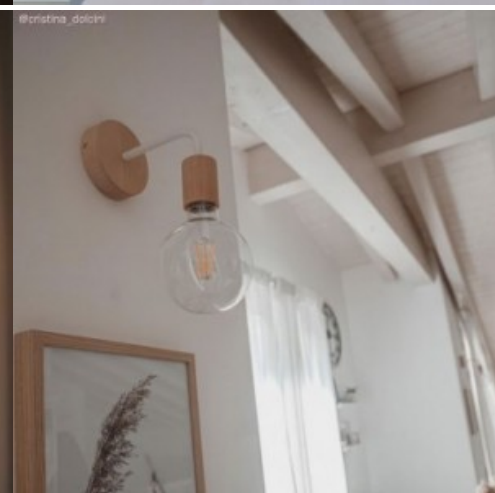

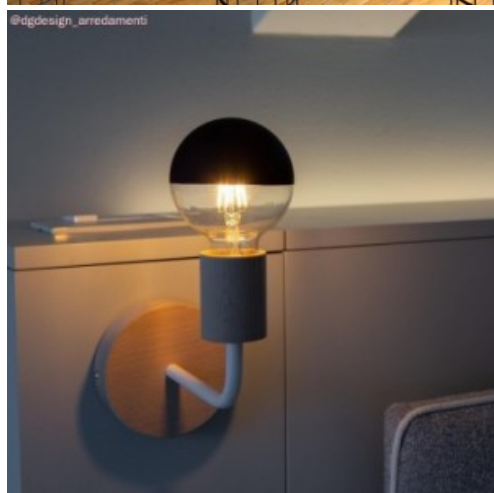

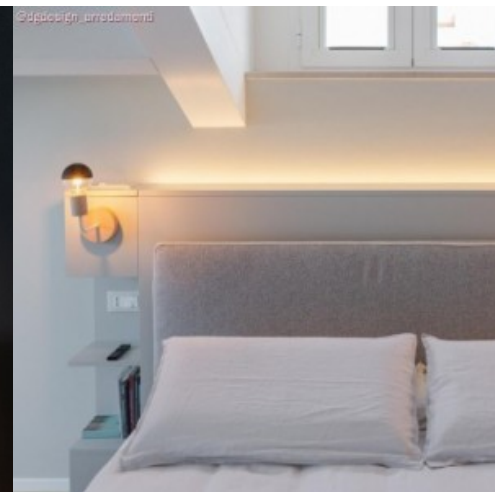

The bent 14cm-long metal extension tube is used to creatively customise a wall lamp. Applied to a wall rose, it allows you to direct the lamp holder upwards or downwards, creating different light distribution effects within your environment.

This accessory is available in all the glossy or satin metallic finishes of the Creative-Cables range of components: choose the one that best matches the lamp you wish to assemble.

The tube has an M10x1 thread for rods or cable clamps (NOT INCLUDED) at both ends.
